- Exciting topic: treasure hunt
- Important message: What is really valuable in life
- With transformation flap, fold-out page and book-within-a-book

The Mystery Crew are on their way back from the Himalayas when their aeroplane Rusty discovers an island that is not on any map. Lenny, Cleo and Marvin think that can't be right. But Grandad Romulus, the old adventurer, knows the ancient legend of an island that wanders across the oceans. Why it doesn't stand still is one of the world's greatest mysteries. If that isn't a new case for Lenny Hunter and his two friends! Rusty immediately makes landfall and the three adventurers set off to solve the mystery of the wandering island. But someone has secretly been hot on their heels for a while: the crooks from the Red Paw.

Silvio Neuendorf drew everything that came under his nose and his talent for drawing did not go unnoticed by his primary school teacher. His favourite illustration subjects are adventurous and fantastic stories of all kinds, but also everything that takes place on, in and under the water.

SENSITIVE STORY ABOUT OLD AGE

Burkhard Spinnen / Andrea Stegmaier
Beppo is Getting Old
3+ / 32 pp. / 22 x 25 cm / hardcover with cloth spine / with foil and spot-UV varnish / € 16.00
ISBN 978-3-649-64389-0
All rights available

- Positive message: Love life – as it is, and on every single day
- Talking to children about ageing and death
- A sensitive and touching story

This is Beppo, our dog. Beppo is 12 years old, but tomorrow he'll be 13. That's not much for a human, but it is for a dog. I know that he has to die at some point. That makes me sad. But Beppo is a dog. And dogs are different to humans. They don't talk about their love and their anger and their pride and their bellyache. They also don't talk about growing old, dying and death. They simply live and look forward to each new day.

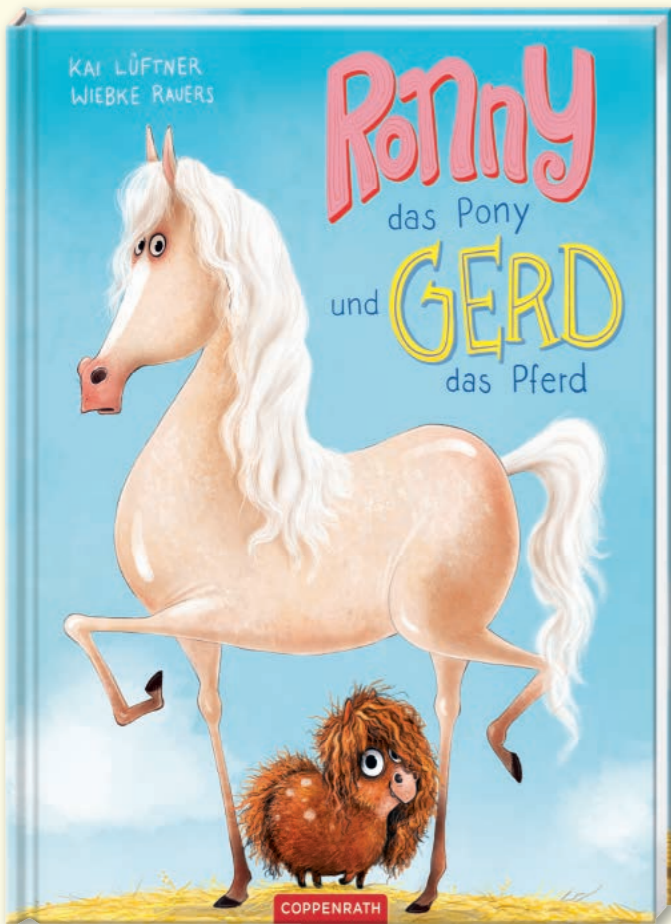

Burkhard Spinnen writes short stories, novels, children's books, essays, glosses and reviews. He has received numerous awards for his work, including the aspekte Literature Prize, the Literature Prize of the Konrad Adenauer Foundation, the Herbert Quandt Media Prize and the German Audiobook Prize.

Andrea Stegmaier studied art history, German studies, and architecture, and has worked as an architect for several years. In 2018, she turned her passion for illustration and children's books into a career, illustrating numerous books for publishers worldwide.

Rony the Pony and Morse the Horse
4+ / 32 pp. / 25.4 x 30 cm / hardcover with relief varnish / € 15.00
ISBN 978-3-649-62386-1
Rights sold to: The Netherlands, Romania

- You just have to love this little shaggy pony!
- By Spiegel bestselling team Kai Lüftner and Wiebke Rauers
- Hilariously rhymed and ingeniously illustrated

*Rony, the pony, was really tiny,
yes, still small even for a pony.
You should see that, it fits standing up into a cardboard box.*

Rony the pony doesn't have it easy next to Morse the horse. Morse is big, gallops gracefully, has a silky coat – and even his food is of a much better quality than Rony's. But one night a fire breaks out in the stable, and suddenly it becomes clear that you don't need extraordinary size to be a hero.

- Funny picture book about the modern witch of today
- Important message: turns weaknesses into strenghts
- Magical mishaps make for a comical reading experience

Barbara Cadabara is anything but a normal witch. She has no magic wand and no flying broom. No bird's nest in her hair and no nasty wart on her nose. And whenever someone calls her name out loud, something incredible happens...

Wiebke Rauers worked as a character designer in an animation film studio for several years before going freelance in 2015. Now she works on apps, exhibitions and more. For Coppenrath, she has successfully illustrated books such as „Fartypops, the Rattle-Dragon,“ „Memento Monstrum“ and several volumes of „Meja Mermaid.“

Kai Lüftner has worked as a street worker, cabaret artist, social worker, pizza driver, bouncer, songwriter, comedy author, concert organiser, radio editor and in old people's and children's homes. Today he earns his living as a musician, audio book editor, director and children's book author.

- About friendship and the strength in being different
- Wild and strong-willed heroine
- 18,000 copies sold

Cute and cuddly? That's so yesterday! Jessi the little hare is thoroughly fed up of her life as a fluffy pet, and runs away. Wild and free, she now roams the woods, her formerly pink collar turning grey, one ear bent, a tooth broken. But one day, when she rescues a guineapig – sorry, an ARMY pig – Jessi finds herself with problems she never dreamt of: the clumsy army pig has got it into his head that Jessi really needs a friend. Even if Jessi has a very different opinion on the matter...

5+ / 40 pp. / 21 x 28 / hardcover / € 15.00
ISBN 978-3-649-64384-5
All rights available

- The special heartfelt project from the successful Fartypops team
- Dark, narrative, thought-provoking – a story about well-trodden paths and a plea for daring to break new ground
- A philosophical journey with depth

Every day, Little Demon makes his rounds through the underworld, just as he is told to do. Demon's feet are heavy, his eyes bored and tired. His only joy is his little companion, Fly, who is always buzzing around him. But then it happens: the leash tied to the fly breaks (or is it cut?). Fly disappears up into the upper world and Demon has to make a decision: Will he stay on his same old path or will he venture down a new one?

- Cute Yomis, magical gemstones, purple dragons and an enchanting little world
  - Illustrated with attention to detail by Anja Grote

There is great excitement in the Yomi village. All the Yomi children are allowed to show off their special skills in a performance. But when little Gusti creates a huge snowstorm instead of a small fluffy cloud, chaos ensues. And to make matters worse, Piepsi, the little dragon, has caught a bad cold. He urgently needs help. Fortunately, Fina's aunt Bruni knows what to do: a magical herb that grows in the mountain gorge can make him well again. Friends Fina, Rubi and Leto set off to find the healing herb. Will they be back in time to help Piepsi? And will they manage to avoid the evil witch Alkaria?

Friendship at second sight

Walko
The Wild Rupp and the Little Shyster
3+ / 36 pp. / 23 x 30 cm / hardcover with spot-UV varnish / € 15.00
ISBN 978-3-649-64665-5
All rights available

- An unconventional, humorous picture book about prejudice, courage and friendship
- Told in funny rhymes
- From the pen of Wild Bandit Thunderfart inventor Walko

Wild Rupp is bored as hell! Everyone gives him a wide berth. No wonder, because with his dirty fur, big mouth and glowing eyes, Rupp looks really scary! However, a few daredevil heroes are already waiting to face him with courage and determination. With the exception of Hups the rabbit, who is also known as the little shyster. Will he realise that behind Rupp's rough exterior lies a very soft core?

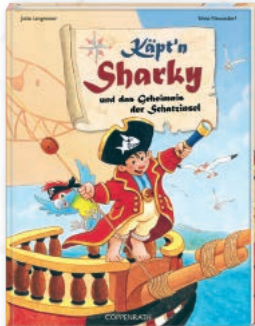

An entertaining picture book about the courage to meet others openly and without prejudice - and to be positively surprised.

Walter Kössler, alias Walko, began his career in cartoons as a background artist for Walt Disney London and Steven Spielberg's Amblimation Studio, later becoming a production designer. Rediscovering his love for storytelling through his son, his children's book series „Elder Bear and Little Rabbit“ has sold over 300,000 copies in German.

The legend of the ghost ship

The Black Corsair · Vol. 18
ISBN 978-3-649-67205-0

- Over 3.7 million Captain Sharky books and merchandise products sold
- Originally translated into 20 languages
- Important message: We decide what we make of the world and ourselves
- Fundamental values: friendship, fairness and responsibility

„Help!“ shouts Capitano Vincenzo. „We’ve been attacked! They’ve plundered our ship!“ Jaro asks, „Who attacked you?“ He is the king of the pirates. Capitano Vincenzo struggles to find the words. „It was ... the black corsair!“ Everyone falls silent...
Many legends surround the Black Corsair and his ship, which appears out of nowhere and disappears just as quickly after the attack. The corsair stops at nothing and no one. Even the oldest pirates have encountered him and he still roams the oceans ominously. Is he possibly a ghost...?
Capt'n Sharky is absolutely certain that ghosts don't exist. Together with his crew, he sets sail to unravel the mystery of the Black Corsair!

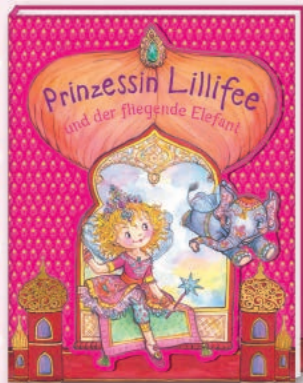

Jutta Langreuter initially qualified as a psychologist and worked at the Max Planck Institute in Munich. She later worked on projects with young children at the German Youth Institute. After taking over her husband's children's bookshop, she began writing books with great joy, a passion she continues today.

Even at a young age, Silvio Neuendorf drew everything that came under his nose and his talent for drawing did not go unnoticed by his primary school teacher. His favourite illustration subjects are adventurous and fantastic stories of all kinds, but also everything that takes place on, in and under the water.

Princess Lillifee in the Garden of Fragrances
ISBN 978-3-649-64820-8

- Great fun for all children
- With scent to be discovered by rubbing a sticker on the cover and inside pages
- From lavender to pizza, from strawberry to vanilla
- International bestseller, 2 million copies sold worldwide
- Originally translated into 25 languages

Oh dear, during a wild romp in the castle, a precious flask is broken and the magical fragrance that ensures harmony between the animals and plants of Rosaria evaporates. Princess Lillifee's fairy kingdom is now in turmoil, so she sets off with her friends and Wuschel the bunny girl to the mysterious Garden of Fragrances. Will they manage to find all the ingredients they need for the magic scent?

Monika Finsterbusch worked as a fashion designer for over 20 years before opening a small studio. Later she switched to the toy industry, designing stuffed animals that inspired her to create stories for children. In 2004, she published one of her first children's books with Coppenrath, „Princess Lillifee.“

- The travel-loving rabbit tells fairy tales from all over the world
- With real letters for every day in Advent
- An imaginative companion for cozy reading hours

Felix has collected and written down the most beautiful fairy tales from different countries through his travels around the world. They tell how the stories came into the world, how dog and cat became enemies or about a kingdom that was lost because of a drop of honey.

Each fairy tale with a personal greeting from the travel-loving cuddly rabbit is placed inside a real envelope – for every day of Advent!

Annette Langen shaped the programme of a children's book publisher for many years before she became a self-employed author. She now does voluntary work to promote reading among children.

Constanza Droop initially aspired to be an architect but chose to study graphic design in Münster instead. She still lives there today and works as a freelance illustrator.

- You just have to love bumblebee boy Jimmy!
- Told with humour and charm by Barbara Rosslow
- Everyone finds their place in this insect gang

When Jimmy sees the light of day in the beehive, everyone thinks: What's that big lug? Why does he eat so much, why does he growl so loudly, why is he much too big? Nobody has any idea why Jimmy is so different - least of all himself. But then he meets Bruno the scatterbrained may beetle, Helga the shy blowfly and Oscar the earthworm (pardon me: the constrictor snake). The four of them form the Big Buzzers Club. And when Jimmy meets Bonnie, the bumblebee princess, everything changes for him...

Barbara Rosslow is a passionate walker who loves the woods, and her favourite things to observe there are bewitched hollow trees and enchanted streams. She also has a sideline in organising and managing social and cultural projects.

Almud Kunert not only loves to draw insects, but also to watch them eat and grow – for example the caterpillars in a wonderfully green mini-jungle that stands on her desk. Her favorite thing to do is to watch butterflies hatch and then let them fly in a wild, sunny meadow.

- An odd couple: Rob the Robot and his four-legged friend Jonny
- Illustrated with great attention to detail
- Important topics: helping others, friendship and being brave

Rob the Robot is super happy with his new life on the houseboat with Jonny. And Jonny the dog is glad that he and Rob have become friends, too. Every day they cycle to Camden Market, where Rob performs as a busker. They earn so much money busking that for the rest of the day, they can do what they like. Play in their treehouse, chat with the woodland animals, or go to the cinema. But when a couple of children who are playing hide and seek with Rob and Jonny vanish without a trace in the London fog, there is a huge uproar. Will the two friends manage to find them again?

Rob is a robot. With his integrated 3D printer, he can produce pretty much anything you need. He speaks all the world's languages and can even talk to animals. But most importantly, he is more sensitive and empathetic than many flesh-and-blood creatures. And that is why he doesn't want to lead the soulless life that his inventor and his kind have laid out for him. He wants to be free and visit the great places in the world.

Walter Kössler, alias Walcko, started out in cartoons, as a background artist for Walt Disney London and Steven Spielberg's Amblimation Studio, as well as a production designer for numerous German film and TV productions. Through his son he rediscovered his love for storytelling and his children's book series "Elder Bear and Little Rabbit" has sold more than 300,000 copies in German.

- The Unicorn that said NO meets Pippi Longstocking – modern fantasy-heroine speaks to children from the soul
- A plea for diversity
- Refreshingly cheeky voice with plenty of humour

The big magic conference is just around the corner and Fairy Queen Mirabella urgently needs a new vehicle to win the magic competition against the ghastly Grusnelda. There's no way she can drive up in her old gold carriage! Mina the Swirly Fairy now has a mission: she absolutely must find the last unicorn for Mirabella. After all, it has a golden horn and glittering fur. Its neighing sounds like a baby's laugh and it farts butterflies. Just the right thing for the fairy queen's performance! But all Mina finds are a couple of snooty SECOND LAST unicorns and Hanno, a non-icorn. Can Mina magically solve the problem after all?

Zoe Magdalena's first young adult novel was published by Ullstein in 2016. She regularly organises poetry slams across Germany. She has been writing for "heute show" (TV) since 2021. She previously studied screenwriting

Alexandra Helm studied design and later chose to become an illustrator. Her favorite thing to do is illustrate children's books, which make her jump out of bed with joy every morning.

What a slimy mess! Monster school head professor Graghul has received a mysterious super machine by his twin brother. But when Lukas presses the wrong button, the machine uncontrollably produces huge amounts of goo and escapes on mechanical spider legs into the secret corridors of the monster school. Orderly lessons are out of the question. The goo monsters Chipie and Chupie come under false suspicion and for the cleaning-mad Octopusterix Whinny Horseapple's personal nightmare comes true. Now only an ingenious plan from Lukas and Nicki can help – and perhaps the inventive genius of Grobi the troll. But will they secretly manage to stop the super machine before the whole castle is covered in slime?

Welcome to Adventor: the land of magical animals! Robin doesn't even know what is happening to him. He was just looking at an old map with his gecko Nick – and now he's hurtling across the desert on the back of a jeep... in search of a treasure, as his new travelling companions tell him. And that's not all: Robin can suddenly understand the languages of all the animals. Not only his faithful gecko companion turns out to be quite the chatterbox, but also the flying Arametasu – a snake that likes to eat car tyres – or the giant horned Pantaresian, who prefers to speak in enigmatic jokes. But despite all the fun, the treasure-hunting team and the magical animals around them find themselves in unexpected danger.

Danger in the Djinn Jungle · Vol. 2

A new exciting adventure awaits Robin and his gecko Nick in the land of magical animals: This time, the enchanted map catapults them into the middle of the djinn jungle. But what's going on here? A winged lion limps across the path, a fuzzy trunked animal snorts to itself and a strange beetle complains of a stomach ache. Robin and Nick have ended up in a camp where the wonder creatures are being nursed back to health. How useful that Robin can talk to animals! But then two dangers threaten the camp. Will Robin be able to save it?

Katrin Engelking has been a freelance illustrator since 1994, illustrating numerous picture books and children's books. For many years, she has given new faces to Astrid Lindgren's characters, bringing her unique style to their beloved stories.

Norah May has lived in northern England. After studying literature in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, she returned to Germany to study German language and literature. Her enthusiasm for literature, especially children's and young adult books, has stayed with her.

Michaela Heitmann painted her walls with baby oil shortly after being born, leading her to study graphic design. Passionate about painting and studying, she also earned a degree in illustration. Since then, she has worked for various publishers.

- Exciting, creepy and slightly weird family adventure story
- Anja Fislage is a master of feel-good horror
- Award-winning illustrator

On a starless autumn night, little Edda disappears without a trace - in the Polidorium garden of all places. (Almost) everyone in Tildrum immediately agrees: it could only have been the Polidoris. And that doesn't change when Edda reappears, because she is missing something crucial: her Shadows – and with it an important part of her soul. Only Petronella and Roberta suspect what is going on: the darkness is spreading and making its way into the town. Meanwhile, something is brewing there: An angry mob wants to burn down the Polidorium and drive out the "gravedigger family." The Polidoris urgently need help – from Hodder Morkel of all people.

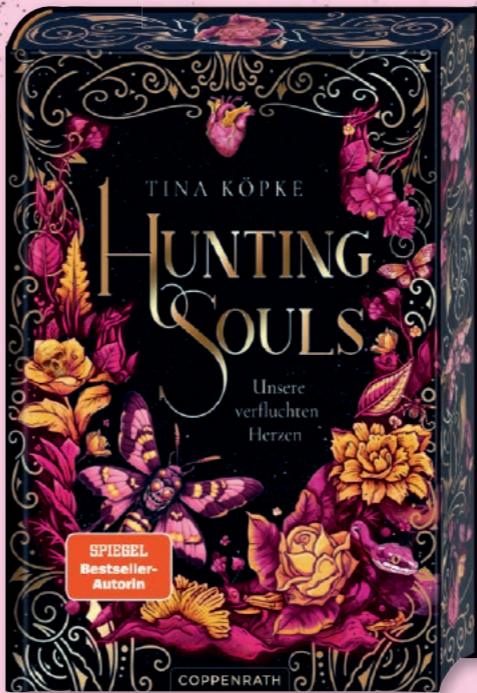

Anja Fislage loves adventure, but would rather sit at her desk than go to sea. For that reason she first studied literature and then worked as an editor at various publishing houses. One day it occurred to her that you can have adventures at your desk, and that is what she's been doing ever since, with great enjoyment..

Verena Wugeditsch grew up in a little village in Austria and trained as a graphic designer in Vienna. Her interest in foreign languages then took her off course, to the far north among other places. She is currently living and working as a graphic designer and illustrator in Münster.

- Eagerly awaited: the second volume of the Spiegel bestselling dilogy
- Undead girl loves hunter: Enemies-to-lovers romantasy by new discovery Tina Köpke
- Dark and funny: for all fans of "Crave" and "Wednesday"
- Cover and colour cut enchant the BookTok community

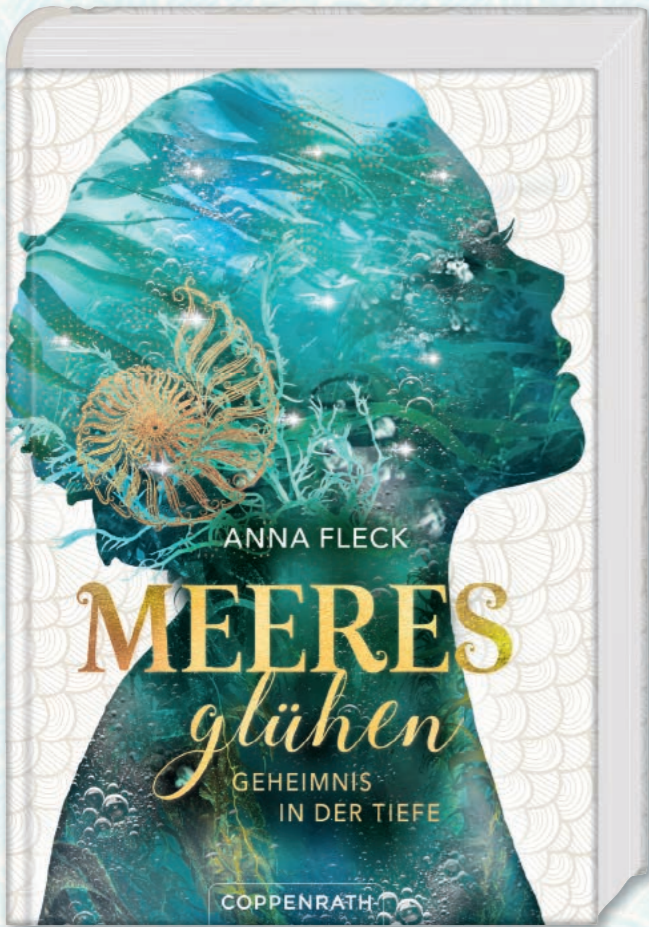

Katrina Smythe is 18 years old, undead - and deeply in love. But she would never admit it. Firmly convinced that she and Tate are far too different for a relationship, she avoids her feelings. Not easy at all, as Tate has had to follow her wherever she goes since the failed soul curse. But the two of them actually have completely different worries: a series of missing persons cases is keeping New Arcadia on tenterhooks. Someone seems to be deliberately creating the undead. And this is not only a thorn in the side of Tate's safety-conscious hunting family - but also Death himself. And he reminds Katrina of her agreement: She must manage to stop the undead or someone she loves will die at the end of the year. To do this, Katrina needs all the help she can get. But can hunters and supernaturals fight side by side? One thing is clear: it's better not to break a deal with Death...

Best-selling author Tina Köpke is guaranteed to give you sleepless nights with the eagerly awaited conclusion to the Hunting Souls duology!

Tina Köpke's passion for obscure and macabre urban fantasy with dark romance was shaped in her childhood by "Goosebumps" and heroines like those in "Buffy the Vampire Slayer." As a fan of Tim Burton, she draws inspiration from quirky everyday things to create her unique characters and worlds.

Rights sold to (series): Ukraine

- More than 50,000 copies sold
- Compelling Atlantis trilogy
- A tense page-turner full of crackling romantasy

A little storm surge ... Ella is determined not to let anything spoil her Cornish holiday in Granny's cottage. But when she saves what she thinks is a surfer from drowning, suddenly nothing in her life is like it was before. The mysterious Aris comes from another, mythical world – at the bottom of the ocean. Ella throws herself into an adventure full of wonder and terror. And it isn't just her heart that finds itself in terrible danger ... In her brilliant debut, Anna Fleck whisks the reader from one tense scene to the next, creating an enchanting underwater epic with a refreshingly disrespectful heroine. Once you dive in, you won't want to come up for air!

- Young, contemporary illustrated book on the trendy topic of happiness
- Special design with Swiss brochure and coloured thread

„Happiness is not as simple as it seems,” said the young illustrator Marlene Droop and dedicated her final thesis to this major topic. What is happiness and what is fate? How much luck is inherent at birth? Are there any reliable tips against bad luck? A book full of thoughts about happiness and unhappiness, half-full, full and empty glasses, the unhappy human existence and why self-love can also be rubbish with gravy. A young, courageous and extremely creative book – rightly honoured as one of the three best works of the year.

- Thought-provoking: Take control of your own life
- Personal style appeals to the young generation
- shortlist Most Beautiful Books 2024

Somehow, being an adult is quite different from what I expected, mainly exhausting. And then questions start popping into my head that I would never have asked myself before: What's the deal with fate? Do I have to find my place in the world? And what would happen if I lived forever? – In this book you will find small and large thought-provoking nudges that will encourage you to take life into your own hands and greet your future with a “Yay!”

Marlene Droop studied design and works as a graphic designer and illustrator. In addition to her book projects she is known for her advertising pillar posters in her hometown Münster.

Sara Ball was born in Munich in 1944. Her first picture book was published when she was just 16. Since then, there have been over 100 more books, and she has become one of the most successful picture-book authors in Germany and beyond. For several years, she worked as a scientific illustrator for the national prehistoric collection and the state office for historic preservation in Munich. In 1971, she made the leap to independence and has been working as a freelance artist ever since.
